A critical analysis of the current data around health and development highlights the overall challenges that appear to delay the realization of holistic community-health and wellbeing. The socio-economically disadvantaged communities had limited access to health facilities due to distance, the lack of transportation, or the cost of transportation. Many of them did not understand expenditure, gender barriers to accessing services, lack of transport facilities, mistrust of government services. This leads to a delay in accessing care until health conditions become severe. From the importance of getting tested, treated and vaccinated against COVID-19, particularly due to rumours about the vaccine causing death and fertility problems. Many people who work for daily are:

- Operationalizing convergence includes coordination between the various mandated committees, community structures and individual functionaries across all levels and sectors of the government. The recommendations for the overall framework, stated practices, and management guidelines for the successful implementation of this initiative were developed with the help of the Department of Public Health (DPE), Department of Women and Child Development (WCD), and Community Health and Development (CHD) Ministry.

- The Department also close to three government departments, the Departments of RDPR, HFW, and WCD, as well as with the concerned stakeholders such as frontline workers and communities. The government issued guidelines and SOPs to health facilities, and the Ministry ensured their implementation. The Department also identified and coordinated with all the stakeholders involved in the process to ensure that the program was successful.

- The Department also supported the government in the implementation of the Social Health Assurance (SHA) program, which is a comprehensive health insurance scheme for the poor and vulnerable populations. The SHA program was designed to provide health care to all citizens, including those who are below the poverty line and have no access to formal health insurance. The SHA program was launched in three phases, and the Department ensured that all health facilities were equipped with the necessary equipment and trained staff to provide quality care.

- The Department also provided support to the government in the implementation of the National Health Mission (NHM), which is a program aimed at providing quality health care to all citizens. The NHM was designed to provide free health care to all citizens, including those who are below the poverty line and have no access to formal health insurance. The NHM was launched in three phases, and the Department ensured that all health facilities were equipped with the necessary equipment and trained staff to provide quality care.
